Iron Ore Shipments.

The Marquette Mining Journal publishes the full report of ore shipments by lake and rail from the iron mines of Lake Su perior during 1889, from which it appears that the output of ore was 7,292,754 gross tons, this being 2,207,343 tons in excess of the output for 1888.

The output of the mines of the different

The output of the mines of the different ranges is as follows: Marquette range, 2, 684,817 tons! Gogebic, 2,016,501; Menomines 1,7.6,764; Vermilion, 841,763. The total shipments during 1880 were heavier than ever before, but they did not show the same ratio of gain as the shipments by water, this being partly due to the slack demand for ore for the first six months of the year and largely to the satisfactory the year and largely to the satisfactory rates on ore by lake that prevailed during the shipping season. The mines are now being wrought more extensively than dur-ing any previous winter season, and ship-ments will begin in the spring from unusually large stock piles. The estimated out put for 1890 is 9,000,000 tons, and even that enormous quantity may be exceeded if the demand for ore continues as strong as now

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman pub-The Mississippi valley Lumberman publishes a comprehensive review of the lumber business of the northwest for the year 1839. The total product of the year was 3,407,488,503 feet, or a failing off of 706,401,775 feet from the product of 1888. Low water and the general duliness of trade are given as the chief reasons for the reduction in production.

It is reported that in the past two years certain persons in Mexico have coined about 5,000,000 United States dollars, which have been shipped across the border and circulated in Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona, and in other districts, and that the counterfeiters made a profit of about 28 cents on each of the spurious dol-lars disposed of.

An engineer and a fireman on the Long Island railroad have been arrested for criminal carelessness. The day provious they drove a train at full speed over the Dutch Hill Creek bridge, which was only closed in time by the draw-tender by desperate exertions to prevent the train, with its hundreds of passengers, from plunging to destruction. Two masked men entered the postoffice at Albuquerque, N. M., the other evening, bound and garged the postmaster and then went through the safe, securing $500 in went through the sale, several bundred cash, $1,502 in stamps and several hundred dollars' worth of jeweiry. After they had gone the postmaster released himself and gave the alarm, but not before the outlaws had made their escape, leaving no clue. There was considerable excitement in St. John's Episcopal church in Philadelphia iast Sunday when a young man in the congregation arose and pointed a revolver at Bishop Whitaier. The shot, however, inflicted no injury. The

would-be assassin was arrested and taken to the station house, where he gave the name of David Alexander, and told a ram-bling story about receiving a letter that induced him to kill the bishop. A petition has been presented to the Capadian house of commons, calling attention to the enormous increase in the consumption of dressed American meat in the mari-time provinces. Nine years years ago the importation amounted to 300,000 pounds, but hicago men have since worked up a trade there representing nearly 4,000,000 pounds annually. The petition states that the Canadian farmer unprovided with refrigerator cars, cannot compete with the American producer, and the member urged parliament to double the duty. Two big manufacturing plants now be-Two big manufacturing plants now being erected in different parts of Cleveland have for some time been a mystery. It is thought the Standard oil company are the real owners. Nearly 60 acres of land have been leased, big buildings erected and workmen are now drilling a well for salt. It is said that the company will manufacture soda ash, great quantities of which is used in the refining of oil, the manufacture of class and for other nursees.

Last summer a tramp called at the residence of D. B. York, a lawyer of Williamston, and asked for food. After Mrs. York had supplied him something to eat, she noticed his ragged head-covering, and gave him one of her husband's hats. A few days ago the sheriff of Cass county went to Williamston to arrest Mr. York for burglary. A safe had been cracked in Cass county, and the burglar had left behind a hat in which was found Mr. York's name and address.

the southwest corner of Wall and Noble alleys, in Columbus, Ohio, one afternoon last week was followed with very sericus results. A crowd had gathered to witness the fire when a second explosion in a house opposite took place. The force of the explosion in the first house took a westerly and partherly direction and sections. and northerly direction and scattered bricks and lumber and lathing for a dis-tance of 20 feet. The exploded vapor then leaped over to the borth side of the alley and completely destroyed the house at 34 west Noble, occupied by Edward Otsot and Mr. James. Here everything was blown
